

Interview 1

This should work. Right? Yes.

Probably. Let's hope. I close the door?

Yeah, sure. It's all right. I's feeling that.

Okay, Darcy, first question. When choosing courses, what do you have the most trouble with? Um.

For me, that my degree doesn't allow for me to have many second year course options. And so many of the second year course courses are really interesting. So if I want to graduate in the minimum time for my degree and not just add extra semesters for the sake of it, I can't do a lot of classes that I'd like to do.

Oh, I see, I see. Um Was it clear what courses were required for your courses? For your course?

Mostly, yeah, um. I mean, they have it sorted on the page into mandatory and optional ones, but there are some that aren't super clear. Like, one of mine says that it's mandatory if you want to do honours for the program, but it's in the optional section.

Yeah. I see. Probably should ask this first.

What is your degree and what courses are you currently taking? I do the Bachelor of Advanced Humanities and do you want course codes or Sure. I think it's HUMN 1201 Philosophy 14 something and then Phililosophy 2013 and Phililosophy 2300.

Okay, thank you. What factors are most important when you choose courses? E.G. timetable of prerequisites. or etc.

Well, not manyone of my courses have prerequisites, and I get a prere relaxed timetable, so really, it's just, I want courses that sound cool. Sound cool? What degree are.

Oh, I'm already asked that question. Have you regretted taking a certain course? Not really.

I mean, I used one of my electives to do a psychology subject last semester. Yeah. Because I was planning on maybe switching to psychology.

And I liked the course and it was it was fine. But I'm not doing psychology. I kind of made me decide not to do it.

But even, I wouldn't say it regretted it. I think it was a good use of time and money. Which courses do you suggest and not suggest taking together?

Um... Oh, look, noneone of my courses have been, like, that bad to take together. I wouldn't.

Um.. I... Honestly, I just would try to suggest doing as few of the first year philosophy courses as possible because they're not that...

I mean, they're not not interesting, but they're, you know, the other ones are better. Yeah. Um...

Have you missed out on enrolling in a course because it was full? No. No.

No. Okay. Okay.

What courses do you like and what courses do you not like? Okay. Just out of my ones from.. this semester, I'll or Well, in, like, out of any courses you've taken.

Okay. Um. I liked all of my courses last semester.

Yeah. But this semester, so far, I haven't loved HMN 1201 in my mandatory Humanities course. But it's just because at the moment we've been doing poetry and I'm not the biggest poetry guy.

And later on we're doing art, like paintings and stuff, I'm not the biggest art guy., I see. But in the middle, we're doing music and that's going to be really cool, so. Okay.

In an interview. Two seconds. Um..

Is there a course you wouldn't take if it was clear certain classes like studios and applied classes are required for that selected course? Um Do any of your courses as mandatory? Yes.

No. No. What, like, okay.

We need to go to tutorials because, um tutorial participation grade for second year philosophy stuff is worth 30%, but, like, that's. Were you aware of that before you did the course? Um, chose the course.

They only changed that to be that significant this semester, so no, I wasn't. But it's okay because I'm paying a lot of money. for this degree, because I want to go and do the classes. So I don't think it would stop me.

If there was like a class and it was like one that I was already iffy about, and it was like, this one is your only class that you have more than three hours a week of contact time for, I'd go, all right, well, I'll drop it and I'll do another one. But yeah. Okay.

And do you visit the course profile prior to enrolling in your horses? No. No.

No, no, no, no. Okay. And I wish I did.

You wish you did. Because, um. I don't like the way the assessment looks for one of the ones I've picked out, but that's okay.

We'll get through it. It's okay. Okay.

Thank you for your time. Poop.

Interview 2

Hello, Do you have any free time? Yes, I do. Okay.

What's your name, sorry? Grace. Grace.

I'm just There's 10 questions. So. What degree are you doing and what courses are you taking this semester?

I'm studying dentistry. I'm taking anatomy. I'm taking two different dent courses, and I'm taking an applied oral bioscience course.

How is a lot? Yes. Wow.

When choosing courses, what do you have for the most trouble with? In dentistry, we don't actually choose our courses. We are just given a set schedule.

We don't even get to preference. I am aware, but these are fixed interview questions. That's okay.

Was it clear what courses were required for your course? Yes, 100%. We got a published list of the courses we have to take.

That list hasn't changed. Yeah. I see.

Very interesting.. What factors are most important when you choose to courses? Oh.

You don't choose? Not many. I just I just..

The factors that they tell me what to take. Um. Have you regretted taking the certain call?

Yes, but it's not like I couldn't have taken it, so.. All your courses are mandatory, aren't? Yes.

Yes. What courses do you suggest and not suggest taking together? You assume you have a choice.

Um, I would just like, not take dentist name. Oh, just the degree. No, taking mashing up the anatomy courses with the oral Bioscience class is a bit much.

It's a lot. They're very content heavy, but that's dentistry. That's oral and anatomy?

Yeah. Yeah, okay. Um.

Have you missed Enrolling in a course because it was full? No. No?

No. In, yeah, they just, they just put us in. Yeah, they just put you in.

Yeah. Which courses do you like and not like? Oh, I really like my anatomy course.

Great professor. Hard content, and then I really dislike the health and haves courses I had to take, but that's from last year, but those suck. Very nice, very nice..

Is there a course you wouldn't take if there was clear certain. If it was clear that certain classes like studios and applied classes were required for the selected course, like mandatory classes. I guess.

They're all mandatory. Like, yes, if we didn't have to take health 1000, I would not take health 1,000. I think it was not a very well put together course.

And last question. Do you visit the course profile on the website prior to enrolment? Yes.

Yes. All the time. Okay.

Yes. Very nice. And during.

This concludes out of you. Yay!
